

RIVAL RAIDERS IN A CLASH.

BROOKS AND HAYES RUN AFOUL OF EACH OTHER.

Queer coincidence in a descent on a Pool-room in Williamsburg—Lively Scrap Before Capt. Hayes's Sleuths and Brooks and His Men Get Acquainted.

Oscar Kolkey opened a pool and billiard parlor at 3 Moore street, Williamsburg, a few weeks ago. He sold soft drinks on the side. A very short time afterward the Dalton Pleasure Club, Incorporated, hired the room over Kolkey's place. Folks in the neighborhood noticed that Kolkey's business was making in the morning, but that it was running in the afternoon, particularly between 2:30 and 6 o'clock.

Somebody who wondered why such an appetite for soda water had developed in that quarter of Williamsburg among the male population (no women had ever been seen in the place) telephoned Police Captain Hayes of the Stagg street station. Hayes and two of his plain clothes men hung around the neighborhood until they figured they had enough evidence to warrant a raid.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon they were outside the place watching men of all sorts hurrying in. Among those that went in last were five fellows who pushed into the door, hurriedly treading on one another's heels. Hayes thought it was time for him to make the raid, and, with Tender and Kelly, his detectives, he entered the soda water store.

A merry row was going on inside. The five husky fellows had preceded Hayes were trying to break down a door leading to the rooms of the Dalton Pleasure Club. They were using billiard cues and their brawny hands. Kolkey was lying on the floor in the wreck of a tray full of soft drinks that he had dropped in his fright.

Hayes and his detectives rushed for the five who were trying to beat down the door. There was something familiar about the face of one of them, but Hayes couldn't place him. The quietest desisted for a moment in their efforts to smash the door and turned their attention to Capt. Hayes and his sleuths.

"You are arrested," said one of the five to Hayes and his detectives. "Back up there in the corner until we get ready for you."

The captain and his men made a rush and tried to collar the five who were in the room. They were in a lively scrap for two minutes. "Hold on there," cried one of the five. "This thing has gone far enough. I am Inspector Brooks of Manhattan. I'm running this place on information I got to-day. Now, who the hell are you?"

Capt. Hayes and his sleuths, a bit disheveled, told them they were in the room seconds. Then the eight policemen attacked the door. It gave way with a crash, and they burst into the rooms of the Dalton Pleasure Club, Incorporated.

The telephone in the place was ringing furiously. Two men behind a table were stuffing money into their pockets and tearing up sheets on which they had written the entries in the fourth race at Brighton Beach. About thirty men were huddled in a corner of the room, evidently very scared. An open window and a fire escape had already let twenty to freedom.

Inspector Brooks and Capt. Hayes arrested six men whom they picked out of the bunch and let the others go. Those arrested were Oscar Kolkey of 805 Broadway, Williamsburg; William Heins of 57 Grattan street, William Howard of 244 Bold street, James Crawford of 115 Halsey street, Adolph Hirschfeld of 14 Johnson avenue and Daniel Heaney of 206 Floyd street. Kolkey was charged with being the keeper of the room and the others were held for visiting a poolroom.

Inspector Brooks had been informed that the place was a poolroom and he had made a raid without taking the Williamsburg police into his confidence.

REAR END SMASH IN THE AIR.

Four Hurt in a Fifth Avenue Elevated Accident in Brooklyn.

Four passengers were slightly injured and many were panic-stricken yesterday morning in a rear end collision on the Fifth avenue elevated at Third avenue and Thirty-eighth street, Brooklyn. The injured are Michael H. Deady of 405 Fifth street, Aaron Levi of 4717 Third avenue, Lizzie Becham of 247 Forty-third street and Patrolman Charles M. Taylor of the Adams street station.

At the point where the collision occurred there is a long curve from Third avenue and Thirty-eighth street into the Thirty-sixth street terminal. A Bay Ridge train with over 200 passengers bound for the Bridge stopped on the curve and a brakeman was sent back to flag the following train, in charge of Motorman John H. Phillips. As it approached the brakeman waved a red flag. Phillips's train continued to go ahead. The passengers saw the red flag and became panic-stricken.

Many made for the doors and some for the windows. They feared to jump, as the elevated structure at this point is very high. When the crash came the passengers on both trains were thrown to the floor. The platform of Motorman Phillips's car was crushed and the iron work was twisted. The rear platform of the last car on the first train was demolished. Windows were smashed in many of the cars and the forward truck of the first car of the second train was derailed. After the first train pulled into the Thirty-sixth street depot, where its passengers were transferred, and then the train was taken to the workshop for repairs.

A wrecking crew got the wheels of the derailed truck on the tracks again and the train was slowly taken to the depot. The collision delayed traffic on the elevated to the south. The officers of the road began an investigation, but up to a late hour last night they had given out no account of the collision. Motorman Phillips has been in the employ of the company fifteen years and has an excellent record. He was subsequently arrested and arraigned in the police court.

Believing that he was responsible for the accident he was discharged by Magistrate Tighe. The passengers who were injured left for their homes after ambulance surgeons had dressed their wounds.

TO KEEP TABS ON CAPTAINS.

Must Make Daily Reports of Places Visited in Their Precincts.

Police Commissioner McAdoe issued an order yesterday requiring the captains of the various precincts to send him daily reports which would cover these three points: The time spent by the captain at the station house during the day covered in the report; the time he was on patrol and the places in the precinct visited.

"I have a sample report before me," said Mr. McAdoe yesterday, "and it tells me a great deal. The captains have great latitude. Heretofore they have been exempt from such reports. They could appear at the police trials and tell any story they wished on behalf of their men, with no one to gainsay them. They could say they had been any place that suited their fancy and their men's convenience."

"There is no reason why they should be exempt. I do not want to cast any reflections on the captains, but I want this report. I am going to get it."

The Commissioner also announced some changes in the uniforms of the seventy-nine detective sergeants who do duty similar to that of roundmen. They are to have silver bars on their uniforms instead of gold ones and black moiré stripes. The trousers instead of the narrow white ones of a roundman.

WITH some of the fashion doctors calling for BROWNS, there still seem to be a good many men of the look-before-you-leap variety who are picking out rich, dark, handsome mixtures for their Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats—at least, that's our experience.

Only a few men look well in a decided brown—for those we have both Single and Double breasted Suits, and English Walking Suits.

BRIBED NOT TO PROSECUTE.

NOT GETTING ALL THE MONEY, SHE SEEKS "JUSTICE."

Arrest of Mrs. Kiernan for Compounding a Felony—Lawyer, Policeman and Some Others Next—Caught Trying to Hush an Outrage in a Tammany Club.

Mrs. Jane Kiernan of 1075 First avenue was held yesterday for examination in the Tombs police court in $1,000 bail on a charge of compounding a felony. The charge grows out of the story which Mrs. Kiernan told last Monday to Chief Clerk Lewis, to the effect that money had been paid to her in consideration for which she was to keep quiet about a case pending before Magistrate Mayo, in which two young men had been arrested.

Mrs. Kiernan told Chief Clerk Lewis on that occasion that Joseph Mullen, whom she believed to be a policeman, had given her $50 and had promised to pay her $100 more the next morning. It was because he hadn't paid the other $100, she said, that she had come to court to get justice.

When the woman told this to Lewis he directed her to upstairs to the District Attorney's office. Instead of going there she disappeared. Assistant District Attorney Krotel heard of this and asked the police to look for her. That was two days ago.

Late yesterday afternoon the police produced her, although in the meantime Mrs. Kiernan had been to the District Attorney's office and had been allowed by the latter to go away, after telling a story which showed she was guilty of a crime. She was arrested late yesterday afternoon by Detective Hahn.

Mrs. Kiernan said that when she left the police court she had been approached by a lawyer to whom she said she gave $20. He advised her then to keep away from the District Attorney. Mr. Krotel got the name of this lawyer and also the names of the persons in the case. It is said that other arrests may follow.

Mr. Krotel would not say yesterday just what was behind the case, but he intimated that an interesting disclosure might be made. He has found out enough to believe that some pretty strong influence has been at work somewhere to stop the case from going on.

The charge made by the girl, Tessie Connelly, was that two young men, Jacob Strobel and James Geraghty, had lured her into a Tammany club at 29 Chambers street on Sept. 3, and there assaulted her. When arrested the two men were immediately bailed out by a Tammany politician. The girl was sent to the House of Detention. At a subsequent hearing Mrs. Kiernan asked that the girl be committed to her custody and promised to take care of her. The case was called two days later and was dismissed because the girl did not appear.

Mrs. Kiernan's story is that the man named Mullen had told her she would be sent for when wanted. She was never sent for.

WANTED TO RIDE ON THE BUS.

Believe Obligated to Refuse Woman's Offer to Be Ambulance Work.

Acting Superintendent Richard of Bellevue Hospital was sitting in his office yesterday afternoon when he heard a rustling of silks. Turning around, he saw a handsomely gowned woman moving toward him.

"I want to see the superintendent on very personal and private business," she said. Supt. Richard told her to whisper her business, so that none of the orderlies could hear.

"I want to start riding at night on the ambulances with the surgeons," she said. "I've been doing ambulance work in the principal cities of Europe, and I want to show Bellevue what I can do."

The superintendent quickly decided that something was wrong with the visitor, but he concluded to make the best of the situation.

"I'm very sorry to say that we have all the lady ambulance surgeons we can use just at present, but if you'll send me your application in writing you shall have the first vacancy."

"Now, isn't that a pity?" said his visitor. "Can't I just go out to-day, anyhow?"

Supt. Richard remarked that the hospital rules forbade such a thing. The woman left, greatly disappointed. She did not leave her name.

CITY'S CRIME RECORD.

20 Homicides, 68 Robberies Since Aug. 1—Bronx Outrages Exaggerated.

Police Commissioner McAdoe yesterday gave out a record of serious crimes reported at Police Headquarters since Aug. 1. The report, Mr. McAdoe explained, was not to show that crime was decreasing, but that the police were doing their best.

Since Aug. 1 there have been reported 20 homicides, with 21 resultant arrests; 68 robberies, with 57 arrests; 95 felonious assaults, with 93 arrests; and 253 burglaries, with 97 arrests.

Many of the alleged homicides, the Commissioner said, were accidental deaths. In one instance a child had been killed in the street by an almost spent bullet. A great many alleged crimes would prove to be mere accidents, the Commissioner said, if the truth could be got at.

The Commissioner had Inspector Albertson in the afternoon to get from him a personal report on the stories of outrages in his district. The Inspector had previously sent in a vigorous written report denying that the alleged conditions existed. Verbally he backed this up. The one serious case, the Inspector said, that of the assault on a Miss Slosson, occurred last May instead of last Saturday. One reported outrage grew out of an Italian's laying his hand on a girl's shoulder and saying, "Nice girl."

Miss Blessing, the Inspector said, had declared she was not robbed in the park. She had nothing to be robbed of anyway. She was an unfortunate girl, very poor, who had been forced to stay in the park.

Commissioner McAdoe said he had not heard in any way, directly or indirectly, from the Woman's Municipal League, which had threatened to call upon him.

There was something about Inspector Albertson, to be no wave of lawlessness in the Bronx," he said in conclusion, "but if it be shown that there is I will see that it is stopped."

TOURNAINE'S SILK STOLEN.

Not Smuggled by Dressmakers, but Taken From a Regular Consignment.

A member of the silk house of Ruesman, Gailand & Wechmar, importers, at 133 Fifth avenue, called on Collector Stranahan at the Custom House yesterday and informed the Collector that the house had discovered a shortage of twenty-one bolts of silk in a shipment to it by the steamship La Touraine and that it was thought that the silk seized in the hold of La Touraine by customs inspectors belonged to the firm.

While no explanation was given for the disappearance of the twenty-one bolts of silk from the regular consignment it was thought that some of the crew of La Touraine might know something about it.

The silk is valued at about $1,500. The Collector will investigate the claim of the importers. The silk was discovered in La Touraine on Tuesday and was supposed to have been smuggled in by dressmaking firms.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3.50 SHOES FOR MEN.

Brooklyn Leads the Men's Shop Fashions of the World.

W. L. DOUGLAS MAKES AND SELLS MORE MEN'S $3.50 SHOES THAN ANY OTHER MANUFACTURER IN THE WORLD.

The reason W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the greatest sellers in the world, is because of their excellent style, easy fitting and superior wearing qualities.

They are just as good as those that cost $5.00 to $7.00, the only difference is in the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brooklyn, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the infinite care with which every pair of W. L. Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced anywhere, and why the sales for the year ending July 1st, 1904, were $6,263,040.00.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, and the high grade leathers used, you would understand why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day. W. L. Douglas guarantees their value by stamping his name and price on the bottom. Look for it—take no substitute. Sold by all shoe dealers.

"MIDGETS" HALED TO COURT.

Gerry Agents Say the Children Sang on the Stage at Proctors.

"Bonita" and the "African Midgets" appeared before Justice Mayo in the Tombs court yesterday. Agents of the Gerry society charged the "midgets" with singing without a permit. He says they are a New York widow, and Bonita, otherwise known as Paulina Deslandes, admitted in court that the children had sung on the night the Gerry agents were present. She said, however, that they had sung in a sudden excess of joy, and not because it was on the programme for them to sing.

At New York, said the children only looked on while she danced.

In court, Flora, who is 12 years old, with a kind of big rolling eyes, seemed to be very indignant at the cutting short of her stage career, while Ephraim, who is 14 years old, stood erect and dignified in a suit of green with big brass buttons. He was very proud. In spite of the indignation of the midgets at their departure after a tearful farewell their stage partners. They will be kept in the care of the Gerry society.

SENATOR PLATT IN HAT SUIT.

United States Express Co. Called On to Explain Non-Delivery of Consignment.

Senator Thomas C. Platt, as president of the United States Express Company, may appear in court on Sept. 30 to explain how it was possible for his express company to lose a box of ladies' straw hats. The hats, a wholesale milliner, who is being sued by the company, says that he will have Senator Platt subpoenaed.

Miss J. Kabot, who deals in hats in Philadelphia, ordered a box of straw bonnets from Gross, and it was to have been delivered through the United States Express Company on May 25. The company failed to deliver the box, and Miss Kabot complained to Gross.

She wrote the wholesale man rather tartly that she was in a hurry. She wanted the order duplicated at once or she wouldn't pay, and would go to another bonnet merchant. Gross made inquiries at the express company's office. He was told that the hats had been shipped, but that they had disappeared utterly. Nor could they be found, although tracers were sent out. The express company paid the bill, which amounted to $36.25. That was on June 25. Ten days later the missing bonnets turned up.

The express company wrote to Gross about it and asked him to return the money and take the box of hats. Gross replied that the incident was closed so far as he was concerned and that the bonnets were now out of style. Miss Kabot was of the same opinion. Then the express company brought suit.

Trial was begun yesterday in the Thirtieth district court. It was postponed until Sept. 30.

"I intend to have Senator Platt, as the head of the company, subpoenaed to explain how the company carries on its business," said Gross.

MEN'S CLOTHING Measure for Measure

For your clothing we measure you. By our clothing you measure us. Mutually agreeable measures. Our entire business is measured by our clothing, and has been during four decades and over.

It is more than a generation since we made standards for Men's Clothing. Same now, only different in degree. Higher!

Hence our great clientele of men correctly clothed. Each a witness to the fulfilled obligation of our own ideals.

The tribe will increase this Fall. The reasons follow. They're not dull reading:

Double-breasted Frock Coats, with Matching Waistcoats

They fit. Our sales of these garments mark great and still growing success. Just here the chasm between ready-to-wear and made-to-order tailoring is bridged. It makes most custom work a sarcasm.

Black English Vicuna, silk-lined throughout, $35 for both garments.

Black Thibet, silk-lined throughout, $25 for both garments.

Black Thibet, silk-faced and serge-lined, $20 for both garments.

All equal in form and similar in workmanship. The difference in material makes price-difference.

Plain Colored Business Suits, with Sack Coats

Black Worsted with dull face, silk-lined throughout, at $30.

Blue Worsted Diagonal, silk-lined throughout, $30.

Black Worsted with dull face, serge-lined, $20 and $25.

Blue or Black Cheviot, very superior quality, $15.

The foregoing affords a rare selection of plain and elegant business suits.

Autumn Overcoats

Fashion and utility combine to indicate Oxford Mixed Vicuna as the choice material for autumn overcoats. Durable, staple, dignified. All faced to edge with silk.

The price range is $15, $20, $25, $30.

Fall Overcoats of Covert Cloth are $15 and $20.

Cravenette Raincoats are $15 to $35.

Fancy Cheviot and Worsted Business Suits

Thirty sorts of cloth. Prices $12 to $35 a suit. Coats are sacks, some double, others single-breasted.

Trousers, Fancy Striped Worsted, $5 to $10.

Second floor, Fourth avenue.

The Easy and Comfortable Stetson Derbies

In three ways the Stetson Derby Hats for men are supreme. First they are lighter in weight than all other Derby hats; they are soft and flexible on the head; and in the Clear Nutria Derby, they present the finest quality produced in a Derby Hat today.

The man who wears a Stetson Derby does not have a hard red ring around his head, which stops circulation, and helps to make a man bald.

The man who has never worn a Stetson Derby, of course cannot realize the difference, but the man who has worn one Stetson, can never be induced to wear one of the heavy, stiff Derbies of other makes.

They are shown in all the new Fall blocks at $3.50 and $5; in both black and brown—the Stetson Clear Nutria in black only—the best Derby made, at $5.
